

The Official Amfibio propaganda package

am·phib·i·ous

Pronunciation: am-'fi-bE-&s

Function: adjective

Etymology: Greek amphibios, literally, living a double life, from amphi- + bios mode of life.

Able to live both on land and in water <amphibious plants>.

am·fi·bio

A bunch of explorers of the audiovisual, combining their incredible virtues in arts and science to produce most diverse and unpredictable results.

Amfibio is a Helsinki-based VJ collective - a bunch of explorers of the audiovisual, combining their incredible virtues in arts and science to produce most diverse and unpredictable results.

Amfibio was founded in fall 2002 to leverage accumulated apparatus and foster members' common knowledge base. More experienced VJs, independent media artists, graphics and film students, demoscene seniors, even social scientist and corporate strategist collaborate happily and have since visualized Chris Liebing, Giant Robot, Nuspirit Helsinki, DJ Genki and Disco among others, in Finland and abroad.

Antti Ahonen, Halcyon (Petri Lievonen, Antti Silvast etc.), *jen (Jenni Valorinta), Juhuu (Juha Huuskonen), Maippi (Maija Liina Ketola), mesq (Mika Meskanen), O Samuli A (Samuli Alapuranen), Pink Twins, smo (Simo Rouhiainen), Teemu K (Teemu Kivikangas), VJ Tytto (Minna Piirainen)

Rockin it... Helsinki rockin it. Giant Robot at Tavastia, December 2002. Amfibio's most versatile visual architecture so far - our playground consisted of several beamers, slide projectors, television sets and live stage cams. And a couple hundred meters of cables.

Juhuu and mesq at Club Terrarium, Tallinn, Estonia. April 2002.
